

sunday collector

Maps set in a suitable frame have considerable decorative value, while their appearance here is quite in character.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 4, 2010

Thank you to Zed & Bee

The box of stamps got a workout recently and helped me make some simple thank you notes for some special people. I figure a photo of my notes can be a 'blog way' of saying thank you to Zed & Bee. The sister duo specialise in creating truly unbelievable invitation design. Zoe and Billie wrote some very kind words on their blog about Sunday Collector, so it's only fair that I return the blog love and tell you about the amazing work that is coming out of their Leichhardt studio. Zed & Bee are doing Australian design proud. Check them out.

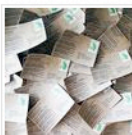

You might also like:

Christmas in July

Pie Oh My

Postcards

SUNDAY COLLECTOR

My name is Briar Stanley and I'm a Sydney based props buyer and interior stylist who works in film and magazines. My days are filled with sourcing the beautiful, unique and unseen. I travel from thrift shops, design stores to bargain basements - and each time my heart flutters with 'a new find'. I want to share these gems, my work, and inspiration with you.

VIEW MY COMPLETE PROFILE

IF YOU'D LIKE NEW POSTS SENT TO YOUR INBOX, ENTER YOUR EMAIL BELOW:

Enter your email address:

Subscribe

I LOVE AND COLLECT

white wedgwood
vintage tea towels
succulents and cacti shells and coral rubber stamps
ribbons
little golden books